

TALE SAVES ROBIN OVER IN JERSEY

Legislator Repeats Legend
of "Red Breast."

SLAUGHTER BILL DEFEATED

Second Attempt to Wage War on Birds
Perishes After Speech by
"Handsome Harry."

TRENTON, N. J., March 10.—A unique and pathetic story concerning the origin of the robin was largely responsible today in the Legislature for the defeat by a vote of 38 to 11 of the second bill introduced this winter to legalize the slaughter of the red breast for his alleged depredations during the season of ripening fruit and berries on the farms of New Jersey.

The story was told in a speech by "Handsome Harry" Soovel, assemblyman from Camden, and was as follows:

"The robin was first a magpie and gray in color and unprepossessing in general appearance, but with a most sympathetic nature. He approached the Cross of Calvary at the time of the Crucifixion, timidly uttering cries of grief. With his hands he tried to wipe off the face of Jesus, and with his beak he tried to draw forth one of the thorns from the forehead. A single drop of blood fell on his breast, and from then until now he has been called 'red breast.' He is the bird of God, the herald of the glad tidings of spring, and I shall vote to protect him. If every man in the house votes against him."

WISHED TO BEAT MORGAN'S NEPHEW

Eugene Drayson Victimizes
Chicago Women.

TOLD A PLAUSIBLE STORY

Ladies Called at Hotel as Directed and Almost Mobbed Baron Fenners-heim of Sweden.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Eugene B. Drayson walked down State Street clad in full-dress suit, high hat, and white kid gloves, borrowing money of women on his "I. O. U.'s." He collected $60. Approaching a well-dressed woman, Drayson would bow low and say:

"Madam, excuse me. I am wearing this garb in the daytime as a result of a $1,000 bet with Mr. Samuel Morgan, nephew of J. P. Morgan. I must wear these clothes and collect $50 from strange women in a hurry. He forgot I could give 'I. O. U.'s' for the money. I must have a dollar at least from each woman for which I will give my 'I. O. U.' good in an hour at my room. Eugene B. Drayson, 404 Victoria Hotel. My whole desire is to beat Morgan's nephew."

"One woman gave him $5 and took an 'I. O. U.' for $5."

"Good-by. I am in a hurry to win, you know. Be over in an hour," he said.

About 4 p. m. thirty women appeared at the Victoria to see Mr. Drayson. The clerk said no Mr. Drayson was there. Baron Fennersheim, of Sweden, was in room 404.

"Well, we want to see him," they chorused.

The baron was hustled down to the parlor.

"That's not the man. He is too ugly looking," they said. The baron went back wondering at American customs. The women held an indignation meeting, exchanged cards, and promised each other visits.

MARRIED LAST FRIDAY, WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Cross Says Husband Bombarded
Her With Kitchen Utensils After Threatening Her Life.

ALTOONA, Pa., March 10.—A well-

Married last Friday, March 4, alleged to have been beaten by her husband on Monday night, March 7, last, and again on Tuesday, March 8, Mrs. Ida S. Cross today began proceedings for a limited divorce from Angus P. Cross.

Mrs. Cross is thirty-four years old and was a widow when she married the defendant, who is twenty-eight years of age.

On last Tuesday night, she says, her husband went home drunk and after beating her with his fists, bombarded her with cups and saucers and dishes.

Again on Wednesday, she says, he assaulted her, striking her with a milk bottle and threatening to kill her.

Mrs. Cross asks the court to restrain her husband from interfering with or molesting her. John H. Adriaans is named as counsel for the complainant.

POSED AS THE BROTHER OF CHARLES M. SCHWAB

Man Who Deceived Citizens of Altoona
Came to Grief in Presence of Postmaster.

ALTOONA, Pa., March 10.—A well-

dressed young man recently arrived in Williamsburg, the birthplace of Charles M. Schwab, and announced that he was a brother of the Steel Corporation's former president. He appeared at stores about the town and said that he was there for the purpose of looking over his brother's interests in the community.

D. T. Ketting, a druggist, was so elated over his new acquaintance that he called together a number of the leading men of the town and the supposed Mr. Schwab held quite a levee. A reception for the evening was being planned when Levi Sparr, the postmaster, came along and saw that the man was an imposter. He was immediately drummed from the town by the men he had deceived.
